<sup>15</sup> Now if the foot should say, "Because I am not a hand, I do not belong to the body," it would not for that reason stop being part of the body. <sup>16</sup> And if the ear should say, "Because I am not an eye, I do not belong to the body," it would not for that reason stop being part of the body. <sup>17</sup> If the whole body were an eye, where would the sense of hearing be? If the whole body were an ear, where would the sense of smell be? <sup>18</sup> But in fact God has placed the parts in the body, every one of them, just as he wanted them to be. <sup>19</sup> If they were all one part, where would the body be? <sup>20</sup> As it is, there are many parts, but one body. <sup>21</sup> The eye cannot say to the hand, "I don't need you!" And the head cannot say to the feet, "I don't need you!" <sup>22</sup> On the contrary, those parts of the body that seem to be weaker are indispensable, <sup>23</sup> and the parts that we think are less honorable we treat with special honor. And the parts that are unpresentable are treated with special modesty, <sup>24</sup> while our presentable parts need no special treatment. But God has put the body together, giving greater honor to the parts that lacked it, <sup>25</sup> so that there should be no division in the body, but that its parts should have equal concern for each other. <sup>26</sup> If one part suffers, every part suffers with it; if one part is honored, every part rejoices with it. <sup>27</sup> Now you are the body of Christ, and each one of you is a part of it

FROM THE PASTOR

One of the really pleasant memories of my childhood is times of hanging out with family and friends, and it is something I still look forward to every summer. I enjoy the annual church picnic and summer refreshments after services because they are times to hang out with each other, and I invite you to come and enjoy, too. Perhaps you could take a few moments some weekday morning and stop by my office to hang out for awhile (I am usually in my office Tuesday-Friday mornings). Because we often live too busy lives, I also encourage you to take some time just to hang out with your children, your spouse, parents, neighbors or maybe meet some strangers, because at the heart and soul of life is relationship. You can also hang out with God, through prayer or worship, taking a walk or watching a sunset, or many other ways. I think when God instituted the Sabbath, he simply had in mind hanging out with us, his children.

Dear Church Family and Extended Community

Your prayers and physical help, kind words, thoughtfulness, sweet notes, and even just thoughts about us have been profoundly overwhelming in the wake of our sadness. Even though my dad was 85, he was a “young 85”, so the shock of him having a fatal stroke seemed as far-fetched as him rooting for the Cubs.

“Thank you”: such a small sentence: so filled with meaning. It is with all our hearts that we do thank you more than words could ever say.

We moved here 11 short years ago, and you have welcomed and embraced us with Christ’s love which fills your hearts and makes this town the special burg that it has always been and always shall be.

With full hearts

Karen and Don Clark, Laura, Lexie, Sally and James

The Cookie Thief

A woman was waiting at an airport one night, with several long hours before her flight. She hunted for a book in the airport shops, bought a bag of cookies and found a place to drop.

She was engrossed in her book but happened to see, that the man sitting beside her, as bold as could be. . . grabbed a cookie or two from the bag in between, which she tried to ignore to avoid a scene.

So she munched the cookies and watched the clock, as the gutsy cookie thief diminished her stock. She was getting more irritated as the minutes ticked by, thinking, “If I wasn’t so nice, I would blacken his eye.”

With each cookie she took, he took one too, when only one was left, she wondered what he would do. With a smile on his face, and a nervous laugh, he took the last cookie and broke it in half. He offered her half, as he ate the other, she snatched it from him and thought... ooh, brother. This guy has some nerve and he’s also rude, why he didn’t even show any gratitude!

She had never known when she had been so galled, and sighed with relief when her flight was called. She gathered her belongings and headed to the gate, refusing to look back at the thieving ingrate.

She boarded the plane, and sank in her seat, then she sought her book, which was almost complete. As she reached in her baggage, she gasped with surprise, there was her bag of cookies, in front of her eyes.

If mine are here, she moaned in despair, the others were his, and he tried to share. Too late to apologize, she realized with grief, that she was the rude one, the ingrate, the thief.
