Clarksburg Community Church

1 Corinthians 10:31

So whether you eat or drink or whatever you do, do it all for the glory of God

FROM THE PASTOR
FROM THE PASTOR

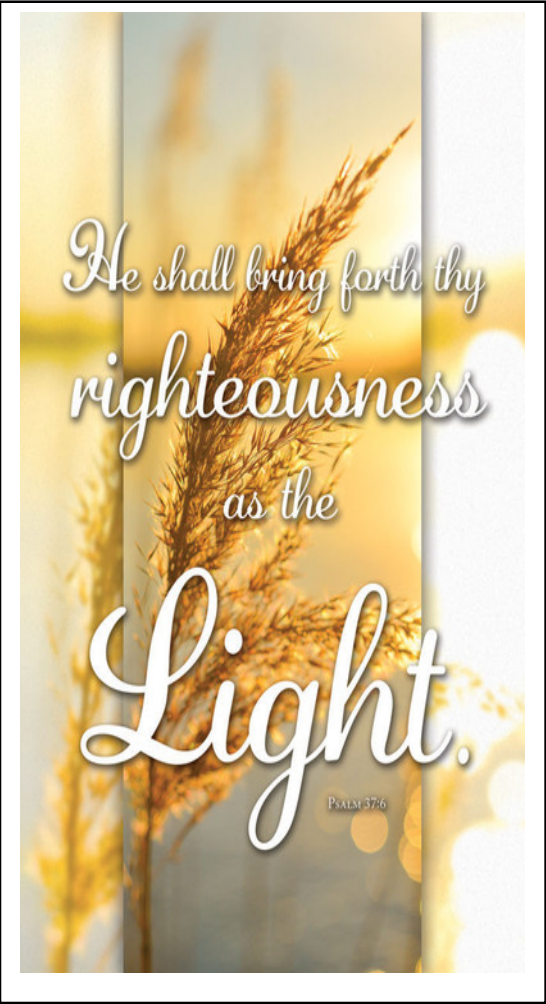

Prayer. The Apostle Paul, in Ephesians 6.18, taught us to pray “in the Spirit on all occasions with all kinds of prayers and requests.” So we pray: personally, with families, with a prayer partner, and in church; with prayers of praise, thankfulness, confession, and supplication; in the good times, the not so good times and the horrible times, in grief and joy and everything in between; in silence and shouts and songs; in anger and with tears, with hope and in desperation and great need; for ourselves and for others, for our church and community and world-in all circumstances and with many kinds of prayers.

Perhaps the most important kind of prayer is inquiring prayer. As I have been reading through the Bible this year for my devotions, I have been continually impressed with how often God’s people found themselves in trouble because they “did not inquire of the Lord” and, more to the point, how, when they did inquire of the Lord, both individually and together, God was with them guiding their way and blessing them abundantly. When Jesus taught his disciples to pray in Luke 11.9-13, he promised that when we ask, seek and knock (that is, when we inquire of the Lord), our Father in heaven will give us his Holy Spirit to guide and be with us.

A Call to Prayer. Would you as you are reading this today commit yourself to inquire of the Lord? Will you intentionally make it part of your personal and family prayers?

Will you join with this church to inquire of the Lord for the ongoing ministries and missions and programs asking for God’s guidance and presence, and for the search committee as they go through the process of finding a pastor? Will you make it a habit to inquire of the Lord for your neighbors, the greater community, nation and world?

Pastor Dennis

MISSION MOMENT

LAUREN WINKLER - Zambia
Terra Nova Children's Home

Terra Nova Children's Home provides children in need with education, training, and leadership. As the home continues to grow, so does the need to provide additional space for the children as they mature into young adulthood. TNCH asked EMI for help in developing 124 acres of recently purchased land into additional housing, schooling, and an agriculture training facility.

While my team was busy creating a site masterplan and designs for water supply and power, I spent time with the kids and staff collecting testimonials about the work of the ministry. In the following weeks I will be working on writing an article for the EMI Newsletter on how EMI is helping Terra Nova grow their ministry to children in Zambia.

Through that time I was reminded of how God uses each of our stories as testimonies of His goodness.

UNION GOSPEL MISSION:

The Women We Serve at the WCC

Last Thursday at the WCC, we served 12 women. It was a nice, small group of ladies who came to the WCC for Bible Study, a small snack, clothing, toiletries, and an opportunity to spend a few hours of their day off the streets and out of the chaos of their lives. As we were closing shop, one of the ladies was still shopping. Each of the volunteers had helped her collect items and heard bits and pieces of her story. Her name is Melissa and she has 4 children. The youngest are with her and the older two are living with family members. Not many years ago, Melissa owned a house, had a full-time job and all four children living in her home. She lost her home to foreclosure three years ago. After that, she lived in her car, with family and friends until her sister found out and invited her to stay at her place, in a little shack in the rear of the property. Melissa said she does her best to provide a hot meal for the boys, clean clothes and the opportunity for them to play sports at their respective schools. Her younger boy is in need of soccer shoes. We tried to locate some for her, but we could not find any. Her older boy plays football in high school. Melissa was to start a new job the following day. She was so excited to start working again and her schedule allows her to continue to take the boys to school every morning. As we ended our time with Melissa, we all gathered around and continued to hear more about her story, her hopes and her dreams for her boys. She kept saying how grateful she was for our help, the items collected for her and the boys, her sister for allowing her to stay on the property, and her new job. One of the volunteers asked Melissa if we could pray for her. As we all gathered around Melissa, held hands and started praying, we could feel the Holy Spirit at work. We could feel the love of the Lord for this woman. We learned that Melissa knows God and Jesus but she also felt as though God forgot about her and admitted that she had forgotten about God. We asked her if she had a Bible, which she said she did not. We provided a Bible to her and she said, "I don't even know where to start reading." Well, that was all she needed to say. One of our prayer warrior volunteers, Ms. Barbara, pulled her own Bible out and started reciting verses for Melissa, directing her where to start. Barbara told her, "Just listen for the Lord, He will direct you." Well, I believe the Lord directed Melissa to the WCC last Thursday and that He allowed us to hear her story, to be uplifted by this woman, who felt she was the one in need of uplifting. God knows those whom he places in our lives even just for a moment. That "moment" with Melissa and the volunteers was very moving for me and I am so thankful and blessed that I was at the WCC last Thursday morning. Thank you, all of you, for your continued support of the UGM/WCC.

Blessings, Michelle

YOUTH GROUPS

COME JOIN IN – BRING A FRIEND!

September was a great month for our youth groups! We've seen High School establish a steady rhythm with youth groups being on Sundays at 2:00 PM every week.

For Jr. High, we have discovered an amazing outreach opportunity in having youth group after school! In the past month, the youth and I discussed prayer and how we can talk to God honestly about what is on our hearts and minds. We also talked about how we can use Scripture as a tool to pray through the different seasons of life. Another topic we've covered is worship and how great our God is! In October, I hope to dig deeper and get to know these kids on a more personal level, and I'm excited to talk with the youth about all kinds of relationships and what God has to say about it. If you would like to join youth group, or simply get more information about it, feel free to email me at cbccyouth1@gmail.com

I'd be happy to talk to you about the opportunities coming up for your student to get involved in youth group!
